CALENDAR YEAR 2021 COMMUNITY IMPACT

There were many reasons Vanderbilt University Medical Center acquired the hospital in Tullahoma, chief among them was expanding access to high-quality, distinctive and personalized care. Embedded in this drive is serving the community and creating ties within it.

We're proud of the investments we've made to make health care personal for each member of this community, including millions in capital investments and tens of millions in salaries that flow throughout the local economy.

But a health care system should be more than a place to heal; it should be a driver of health in everyday lives. Reaching beyond the walls of Vanderbilt Tullahoma-Harton Hospital—and certainly beyond the walls of Vanderbilt Health's main campus in Nashville—is of the highest importance.

This is why Vanderbilt Health has brought to Coffee County its commitment to sponsoring community programs and providing millions of dollars in uncompensated care.

These are the results of just our first year. We look forward, with excitement, to a future of working alongside the amazing individuals in Tullahoma and advancing the health and well-being of the region.

Our recent “A” patient safety rating by Leapfrog is evidence of our commitment to delivering the highest quality of patient care. And by providing $30.4 million* in uncompensated care, we have demonstrated our intent to being a force for good in the whole community.

These and so many other examples of success are not possible without the deep and intense support of our clinicians and staff—not least of which are our amazing nurses, who are the backbone of our entire community's health and happiness.

To our fellow community members, we want to be your partner—whether that means helping you reach optimal physical or mental health, improving the economic health of the community, or supporting other community institutions that make this city great.

We're extremely proud, and forever appreciative, for the opportunity to serve this amazing community. For years to come, we will continue our mission to improve the health care of Tullahoma and the surrounding region, all while giving back in any way that we can.
